Before you begin

1. This eBook is not complete yet; simply I didn't know where to freeze. I will continue to update this eBook for as long as possible and if you would like to receive the updates for this eBook, please click here.
2. I live on the internet. I gathered all of this information by surfing various websites, blogs and discussion boards. Thanks to all the people who helped me in gathering these resources.
3. Whenever I book marked a web page, I left the default description used by the webmasters of those sites unaltered. That way, you get the message as the websites webmaster would have liked to.
4. You are free to distribute this eBook in any way you want. Give it to your friends, family members, clients, sell it for profit – you decide. You just can't modify this book without writing to me, that's it.
5. If you would like to contribute to this book, or report a dead link, please send me a mail at Aravind@productiveworklife.com and I will carefully review your suggestions and include it in the next version of this eBook with credits to you and your website.

Web Servers

Why web servers? You may ask. If you did, here is the reason: Web servers installed on your local PC helps you simulate your website on your local machine. You can learn to install those scripts that you would like to install on your website. Advantages are two fold: You can save money by installing the scripts you bought yourself instead of paying some one and you can test the script on your local machine before you actually install it on your website.

Not to forget, installing these servers allows you to host your website on your own PC (though I don't suggest you to do so).
